The Lapidus Center for the Historical Analysis of Transatlantic Slavery is pleased to announce the third edition of the Harriet Tubman Book Prize, which will be awarded to a distinguished non fiction book published in the United States on the slave trade, slavery, and anti-slavery in the Atlantic World. The prize of $7,500 will be presented at the Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture.

Eligibility
Among the factors that will be considered in determining the winner will be the significance of the subject, the quality of the research and writing along with the originality and appeal to an academic and a general audience. Books must have been published between January 1, 2017 and December 31, 2017. Anthologies and works of fiction are not eligible.

Nominations Deadline
The deadline for nominating titles for the 2018 award is December 15, 2017. Books must be nominated by publishers and must be accompanied by the nomination form. Books submitted by their authors will not be accepted. The Lapidus Center will begin accepting nominations on September 1, 2017.

Submission Process
In addition to the nomination form, please submit the following information and materials:
- ten copies of the book or galley copies
- biographical information about the author
- reasons for submitting the work
- available reviews
